1997→present Dr Zampieron continues to co-host do several health radio shows. He appears every other Sunday on WPKN, 89.5 FM, Bridgeport, CT on a show called INTEGRATED WELLNESS, doing a segment from 8-9 AM called THE NATURAL HOUSE CALL. There, he discusses many maladies and their Naturopathic treatment treatment. This is a boon to his profession as there are only few Naturopathic physicians with regular radio programs in the Connecticut listening area. Another show Dr Zampieron hosts is the show 'The Natural Nurse & DrZ', which he co-hosts with Ellen Kamhi, The Natural Nurse. This airs every week on www.PROGRESSIVERADIONETWORK.org, which follows the GARY NULL SHOW, and are all archived on this website. The members of the committee evaluating Dr Zampieron can access any of these shows thru the internet, and download these. He is scheduled every other week, and alternates with Dr Kamhi. He often interviews colleagues, including an interview with Dr Jared Skowron, former full time lecturer at UBCNM and now adjunct faculty. Dr Skowron was promoting his new textbook on pediatrics. He has interviewed Vice Provost Brady on numerous occasions, and a host of stellar authors noted in the CAM field. Another notable is UBCNM graduate Matthew Perchemlides, who worked as a resident at CANCER Treatment centers of America. He also does a radio show once per month on SUNY Stony Brooks radio station WUSB, 90.1 FM in Long Island. The program is called Natural Alternatives Health radio, and has been airing regularly since 1990 on this station. He also interviews luminaries in the field of alternative, Naturopathic, Chiropractic, and CAM.

Zampieron CV

January and May 2010

Dr Zampieron appeared on Canadian national Television, TSC, to promote a product called Vital 3 Joint solution.

March 2010

Listed in Radio TV Interview Report (RTIV Online) as a national expert guest for radio and TV programs, and has appeared on scores of radio programs because of this listing, including the Franky Boyer show, WHLI Long Island (several times over 2010-2011)

2012- current

Dr. Zampieron continues to interview students on WPKN radio as part of his practice management courses to expose the neophyte to radio and public speaking and promotes UBCNM and its clinic on show regularly.

Work with the College of Naturopathic medicine (2009 to present) Zampieron

Fall and Spring 09

DrZ organized and led a campaign to honor the late William(Bill) Mitchell, ND with a stone garden plaque and a Crataegus tree in his honor. He dedicated these in a small ceremony attended by faculty Fall 2009. This most certainly built School spirit and comradely amongst the faculty attendees.

DrZ procured dozens of medicinal plants for the UB herb garden, located on the Western and Southern side of the health science center. These were then planted, and DrZ developed signs to discuss the Botanical nomenclature and medicinal value of the plants. This venture has certain benefits: 1) helps the students study botanical medicine 2) beautifies the UB campus 3) Educates patients walking thru the garden on what they might be using in the natural health clinic 4) By continuously improving the garden and the number and diversity of medicinal plants, this keeps UBCNM's Botanical Medicine program competitive with the other Naturopathic programs
